

Celebrate World Toilet Day 2018

- with Water DTU and Engineers Without Borders Denmark

Today, 4.5 billion people live without safely managed sanitation and 892 million people still practice open defecation.

Time: Monday November 19th 5:30 pm (17:30) (registration opens at 5) – approx. 8 pm

Place: Room S9, Meeting Centre building 101, DTU Campus Lyngby, Anker Engelundsvej, 2800 Kgs. Lyngby

Sign up (use link) or sign up via IUG.dk (Limited places)

Programme:

- Welcome & introduction:
Katrine Nielsen, Water DTU & Bo N. Jacobsen, EWB-DK.
- World Toilet Day - why are we here ?, why is this important ? - a global view on the need for sanitation for all
Esther Shaylor, Innovation specialist, WASH, UNICEF
- Sanitation and linkages to public health
cases from different developing countries, technical, economical, and cultural barriers and solutions
Peter Kjær Mackie Jensen, Copenhagen University - Public Health
- Promotion of low-cost on-site sanitation based on full user payment
Erik Thorbjørn Nørremark, EWB-DK

BREAK (with sandwich)

- Requirement and wishes for the education of engineers to qualify for work in developing countries
Troels Kolster, NIRAS
- Opportunities for tailoring your study at DTU to improve your skills for solving sanitary and public health problems in developing countries
Alessio Boldrin, Water DTU
- Use of salty groundwater for flushing toilets in Nordhavn
Perspectives for transfer of concept to other freshwater limited coastal cities
Berit Godskesen, Water DTU
- Panel Discussion
consisting of the speakers, moderated by Thorkil Boisen, EWB-DK

See you! If you have any questions, please contact EWB-DK: +45 70 27 40 06 or at info@iug.dk.

We invite participants to bring a poster or a product related to World Toilet Day for display in the hall connected to the meeting room – please notify EWB-DK: info@iug.dk.

www.worldtoiletday.info